shot at by Cheikin, but the sudden appearance of Flannigan spoiled his aim and the gun was then turned on the grain-burner.

Immediately following the shooting, Cheikin, 25-year-old hunter, took to the bush and is believed to be heading northwest to the bear timber. He is well armed and equipped, and is being pursued by a strong posse headed by B. C. M. P. Corporal Levesque and Constable Blair, who also notified Constable Davidson of Paul's whereabouts.

ABUSIVE SETTLEMENT

The waning shooting of Flannigan and Cardinal has aroused a little settlement, Flannigan being respected, came here from Vancouver about six years ago. He is survived by his widow and two daughters and five sons, whose ages range from 18 months to 18 years. They are Ella and Dora, and Russell, Edward, Tommy, Harold and James, all living at home.

Cardinal, a son of the late John Johnson, has been living in the settlement since his wife went to hospital some time ago.

Cardinal, who is a French Canadian, does not believe that he will give up his life and have another son, but that he is desperate and will use any means to get his revenge.

Police posse in the field have been augmented by additional men. Edmonson and the whole district is being organized in the meantime, according to word received from local police headquarters.

Wills Two Coffins

Used For Funeral

LONDON, Aug. 4.—A funeral carried out in the fashion of 60 years ago was ordered by Mrs. Sarah Edmonson, wife of the late John Edmonson, who died in 1876.

Mrs. Edmonson directed her body to be placed in two coffins, the inner one to be lined with white plush and the outer one to be made of mahogany.

An open casket will be followed by a procession of 400 persons, feathered by six horses and ridden by policemen, should be followed by six carriages attended by six men.

LIBERAL PARTY COALITIONS FOR MANITOBA

WILLIS EXPECTS BRACKEN TO SUBMIT PLAN

AUTONOMY OF CANADA NOW IS NECESSARY

C.C.F. Leader Afraid Dominion Might Become Involved in War

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—J. S. Woodworth, M.P., of Winnipeg, dominion leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, told the party's national convention here last night Canada should declare her autonomy now.

In the event Britain became involved in war.

Addressing a dinner gathering, Mr. Woodworth said that according to international law Canada automatically was at war with Great Britain and declared hostilities.

"We've got to get rid of war, capitalism and imperialism such as we have had in the past," he said. "Most British wars in the light of history, could not be justified. Within the next few months the British army will be proposed for Canada, but Canada is much safer unarmed."

Lord Selkirk, leader of the Liberal party in the British House of Commons, told the gathering that the League of Nations failed to bring the string left to their right, they might resort to a league of the "warriors" of the world to bring about peace.

NO REASON TO FEAR

Mr. Woodworth said that in the past he had been told that the small defenses of Canada were inadequate to protect the country.

"We have no reason to fear an external attack in the near future," he said.

"We have the Atlantic on the east, the Pacific on the west, the United States to the north and the United States to the south. The Monroe doctrine would prevent interference in America by any European or Asiatic power."

NAVY WOULD BE ELSEWHERE

"I don't think we could rely on the protection of Great Britain. The navy would, I fear, be somewhere else than on this side of the water."

Twenty-Two Years Ago Today Great Britain Made War Declaration

Dom'sions Rushed to Promise Full Support to Mother Country

By the Canadian Press

Great Britain declared war on Germany.

After France's declaration of July 21, 1914, which followed on the heels of that of Russia, there had been much anxious speculation as to whether Britain would be involved.

Dom'sions rushed to promise full support to their mother country.

KICKING MR. CONNELL OUT The question of Communism inside the C.C.F. seems to have roused the party in British Columbia wide anger. Instead of a united party under one leader the right and left wings have broken apart. The House leader, Rev. Robert Connell, has been elected to resign the leadership and vacate his seat.
He refuses to do either, declaring that he will not resign the Communist left-wing element which is now in control of the party in the coast province.

Prosperity is notoriously harder to bear than poverty. With a small exception of the B.C.
Legislature and the near approach of a general election, the possibility of attaining power has been too much for the more robust elements in the party. The recent convention at the coast, the left-wingers managed to get control of the organization. They drew up a platform calling for the abolition of all financial and commercial institutions. This Mr.
Connell as House leader ridiculed as "fantastic and impractical." The platform, he said, was "calculated to excite those who cannot be filled, and so cause disillusionment and disappointment."

For long it has been regarded as probable that Mr. Connell, whose moderation had commanded respect in the House and strengthened the party with his moderate, was only going as window-dressing, and was not put into the discard should the party achieve power.
Apparently the radical left-wingers couldn't wait to get rid of their leader. They have made their radicalism the issue and given House Leader Connell his walking ticket.

All of the radical plank which Mr. Connell considered foolish in a provincial platform relates to matters solely within the federal jurisdiction. Before a year is out British Columbians will go to the polls in a general election.
We shall then see which they prefer: the program of provincial reforms that the moderate Mr. Connell had advocated, or the radical socializing of the banking institutions of Canada by the B.C. Government, which the left-wingers have set themselves to accomplish.

If ex-Leader Connell shows any sympathy at being expelled from the party he should write to Mr. S. A. Barnes of Edmonton.

THE LOCARNO CONFERENCE
The forthcoming Locarno Conference will mark a decisive crisis in modern diplomatic history. If it succeeds, Germany and France may consolidate their ancient enmities. If it fails it will mark the dark shadow of Mars will fall more across the world. It will mark the end of efforts to seek peace by agreements, it will leave the great powers of Europe to preserve their security by the might of armaments.

One important fact in this conference stands in clear relief. The invitations to Germany and Italy to attend the deliberations with the other great powers, formally acquiesce these nations from any remainder of guilt in their recent calculated repudiations of international agreements. France forgives Germany's re-militarization of the Rhine, and Germany accepted a satisfactory agreement; England overlooks Italy's recent invasion of Ethiopia.

Musolini has declared that he has no treaty with Germany. England and France by their present action accept his ruthless realism. Any state, if sufficiently powerful, will henceforward be able to violate the sacredness of international law with impunity. It is a fact to be faced, and the Locarno Conference is called to face it.

DEFERRING THE EVIL DAY What diplomatic arrangements will be created by the Locarno Conference, should it attain its objectives? It will make Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Italy sign a treaty of peace for Europe. Germany accepts in her refusal to co-operate with Russia in any diplomatic arrangement, the principle of confederacy of the five great powers will then prevail to avenge Europe upon the immense superiority of its force. If its unity is not paralyzed by numerous international elements, the Locarno Conference may well bequeath to Europe a valuable legacy of temporary peace.

Peace can be the world to a similar struggle for military supremacy. As Norman Angell once said: "There can be no such thing as a balance of power; each nation wants the balance of its own power; the League of Nations sought a community of power. The very success of the Locarno Conference will illustrate the superiority of the League ideal."

Perhaps the chief value of the conference consists in the fact that it will substitute the courteous sense of diplomacy for that besting military pressure which has so recently disgraced Europe. There will be no ultimatums or threats of armed intervention at Locarno.

Reason, so long an exile from Europe, at last returns to take up her habitation there. May she be granted something more than a stranger's sejour.

THE WARNING COMES LATE Recipients of relief are being warned they will get no advance next winter for the purchase of vegetables. The idea is that a man without employment should be tending to a garden large enough to supply his family, and will not need to buy unless the weather checks him of a crop.

There cannot be many cases in which this warning is needed. Where it is needed, no reasonable objection can be made. But it would have been more appropriately and usefully issued long ago, when the winter was new to put in a crop of winter vegetables.

If any unemployed men have neglected to do so, expecting that road-work or dividends would take care of their winter requirements, there is nothing they can now do to make up the neglect. They cannot pluck their way out of the matter, but that will not help them if they are without vegetables when winter comes.

Humming birds have appeared.
Jas. Reid began to cut barley on Tuesday.
Mr. Freeman, L.L.S., has a party surveying near the Battle river.

Thomas Smith left on Thursday for Lac La Biche.
A Taylor, operator, has dahlias in full bloom in his garden—the first ever brought into the city.

Constable Cowan drowned at Battleford, was a cousin of Constable Cowan killed by Indians at the last spring.

The Calgary Tribune reports that cherry trees planted there this spring have borne fruit equal to Ontario fruit.

Dr. McKay of the Hudson's Bay Company arrived from Winnipeg on Monday and left for the Peace River country on Friday.

John J. Kennedy, well known editor and radio commentator, has been in the city, though he is only in his early forties. Two of his flash-backs concern two writers, each successful in different fields, though their rewards have been disproportionate.

One is of luncheon with an asset-looking youngster who has been helping him with some publicity work. The assetic chap confided to Kennedy that though writing "sport" then, he had ambitions to write fiction "later."

"Why not now?" shot back Kennedy. So Ramon Runyon started writing short stories, and movie scenarios.

The other story of Joyce Kilmer, the tender poet most popularly known by his poem "Trees," since put to music. It ends:
"Some were made by fools like me, But only God can make a tree."

The scene was in a New York subway, after the poet had been taken to Kennedy's hotel by a couple of friends, because being in khaki in a democratic country, he couldn't be served in the regular way.

"I'll be back with you," said Kilmer, "and when I'm back we'll get together on a magazine or something."

He didn't come back. He filed a grave in France—more accurately two graves, the first burial in Serin's cemetery near Chateau Thierry by an appalling accident they buried him there, and the second in the cemetery of Paris.

Alfred left the office night near him, in peace with an enlisted man near him, the military authorities dug the bones of Joyce Kilmer up and reinterred them elsewhere in the cemetery.

One day last week newspaper photographers, reporters, news-men, tourists and officials gathered in the Denver buffalo preserve in Colorado to witness the funeral of a veteran encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is to hold a barbecue in September.

George Crammer had planned to dress himself up in Indian costume and with bow and arrow, shoot a buffalo for the barbecue. Buffalo meat, according to the old plainsmen, tastes better if killed with a bow and arrow.

When all was ready the Director of Safety with the park managers went into a huddle.
They decided that though buffalo meat may taste better, the buffalo is slain with bow and arrow, that the guests would feel a lot safer if the slaying was done with a high-powered rifle.

A sick-looking lot of newspaper photographers, reporters and news-men witnessed the slaughter of the buffalo.

To preserve their illusions, Hop Big Chief George Crammer was photographed in Indian costume with bow and arrow standing over the prone carcass of the murdered animal.

The French line authorities who were prepared to consent to the blue passport of the Captain Sir Edgar Birt of the Queen Mary might make for his record Atlantic crossing, didn't know the man they were dealing with.

"We're not going to claim the blue pennant.
We won't need it," said the sea dog.
The last passage started low and course 90 miles shorter than the Normandie in beating the Normandie's time by 3 hours and 7 minutes.

Now that the changes in the Queen Mary's propellers have been made, all that is needed is a fair passage and the Queen Mary will be out for a record. The last passage started low and course 90 miles shorter than the Normandie in beating the Normandie's time by 3 hours and

There must be lots of genuine "Spanish prisoners" now.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

These are days that take one's breath away.
When announcement was made that I was to be compelled of those who are eligible for the basic dividend of not less than $25 a month (and maybe $75), it looked as if the of the predicted capture had come.

One of the "covenants" that workers and farmers have to sign, pledging themselves to "work honestly and lawfully," to hand over half their crop, or exchange part of their pay for the new paper money which the government will not cash or take back for taxes, fines, licenses, royalties or liquor, has altered the outlook.

J. S. Cowper Premier Aberhart will be known as the man who put the "trap" in "trap-ture."

I write without prejudice, because I always spend more than a month each year away from Alberta, and thus am not eligible for the basic dividend.

The questionnaire about one's life, habits, and prospects, is a searching document, but deficient in one important particular.

It omits to ask the covenanter what kind of underwear he and his family prefer, if any.
You can tell we are living in a civilized age when you come across a questionnaire in a newspaper, reading "Drought Makes Fortunes in Chicago Grain Plot."

We are the first people since that fine old Saxon, Joseph, prime minister to Pharaoh Tutankamen of Egypt, to make fortunes out of something that we haven't got that we very much need.

At Pittsburg in Pennsylvania a teacher has been reported to have been ousted from his position by parents over the vexed question of chastisement. Anyone who has suffered under the hand of a teacher, will wish that he were on the tribunal that tried him.

The charge against him is that he has "refused to whip our children or give them homework." The disgraced teacher, who has been educational progress of their hopefuls is thereby menaced.

Snore, And You Sleep Alone

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

When some people are sleeping they make a disturbing, rough, snoring sound through their nose or mouth which keeps the other members of the family awake and often awakens the snorer himself. There are probably over a thousand and one different kinds of snoring and sounds caused by different snorers, and the unusual symphony of these sounds on a sleeping ear is very disturbing to light sleepers, who toss about all night long waiting for the "bugle blowers" to cease.

The history of snoring is probably as old as the practice of these habits which have produced catarrhal disorders. It is not likely that Adam and Eve moved as long as they were in the celestial garden, as they probably lived on fruits, nuts and succulent green vegetables.
But even when they were put out of the garden, the first man was forced to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. That is probably where the trouble first started. Any one, of the quintessence of snoring, is a snorer, and he snores absolutely all starches, such as breads, and live on a cleansing, non-starchy diet.

Beides, the cause from general catarrh of the nose of three out of four snorers is often caused by the growth of adenoids which obstruct the nasal passages, but even these adenoids are grown from the same irritant which produces nasal catarrh. In these cases the adenoids should be surgically removed, or reduced through a proper dietetic regimen.

The most of snoring is produced mostly by inhaling air through the mouth and thus vibrating the uvula and soft palate. Of course, it is not likely that it is only in the mouth when the catarrhal subject is asleep that he loses control enough to make the snoring sounds.

In some cases, even after the nasal passages are opened through cutting the catarrh of the mucous membranes, the snorer will continue to breathe with the mouth open when he is asleep, and in this case the most effective remedy is
a habit which he has developed through years of snoring. In these cases it is sometimes advisable to fatten the mouth shut with a bandage until this habit is overcome and the snorer develops the correct nose-breathing when asleep.

The quickest relief in the cure of snoring
comes from taking a fruit fast for a few days.
This is always the quickest way to get a start in the correction of catarrhal disorders. After the fast is over, the patient should eat with a careful diet, made up of the non-starchy vegetables, with small amounts of such proteins as eggs, lean meats, fish and fowl. No snoring should follow during the fast.

The quickest relief in the cure of snoring
comes from taking a fruit fast for a few days.
This is always the quickest way to get a start in the correction of catarrhal disorders. After the fast is over, the patient should eat with
a careful diet, made up of the non-starchy
vegetables, with small amounts of such proteins as eggs, lean meats, fish and fowl. No snoring should follow during the fast.

It is not likely that it is only in the mouth
when the catarrhal subject is asleep that he
loses control enough to make the snoring sounds.

In some cases, even after the nasal passages
are opened through cutting the catarrh of the mucous membranes, the snorer will continue to breathe with the mouth open when he is asleep,
and in this case the most effective remedy is
a habit which he has developed through years of snoring. In these cases it is sometimes advisable to fatten the mouth shut with a bandage
until this habit is overcome and the snorer develops the correct nose-breathing when asleep.

Winsome Maid Pilot To Enter States Air Derby

Daring Young Aviatix Will Arrive Here To Visit Parents in Mid-August, Seeks Big Prize

By EVELYN HUDSON
Evelyn Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hudson, 972 10th street, winsome and daring young aviatix, now living in both Honolulu and Los Angeles, will enter this city from Los Angeles this month piloting a two-seater Lockheed Vega monoplane, owned by Los Angeles dealer, who will not fly from Los Angeles, accompanied by the owner of the plane, on August 15.

Heretofore she will be made at Portland and Vancouver, and Miss Hudson will arrive for New York by plane. At New York Miss Hudson plans to enter the transcontinental air derby for women, for which the Bush-Canteloni donates a prize of $10,000.

FOR SAFETY SAKE
The derby is held to encourage safety, efficiency and efficiency among women pilots. Stoppers may be made at any place along the route as speed is not primarily the purpose of the derby. Miss Hudson covered the course last year, but not as an official, this year however, she will be competing for one of the prizes.

Miss Hudson, a former Edmonton girl, lived here with her parents for eighteen years. She took her education at Strathcona and then at Commercial schools with an insurance company as a stenographer with an insurance company. While there she became interested in flying, and after learning to fly she set up a partnership in a training school for pilots.

SISTER AIR-MINDED
Her sister, Miss Winifred Hudson, followed her sister to Honolulu, now conducts an aviation course for a Honolulu newspaper. Miss Evelyn Hudson went to Los Angeles to enter the transcontinental air derby as pilot with the Lockheed Vega works.

SOCIAL CREDITERS TO FIND REGISTRY JACKSON BLOCK

Central offices for registration of Edmonton residents for receipt of the Social Credit basic dividend, are being located in the Jackson Block, Jasper Avenue, east of 10th street, according to D. B. Mullen, M.C.A. who is in charge of registration.

Registration will be held on August 10 and for the next three days, after which the work will cease, except in special cases, until June of next year.

It is expected that Mr. Mullen will have his office open by Tuesday night and that a staff of 10 stenographers will be at work.

In addition to the central office there will be sub-offices at 40 points throughout the city, using the same buildings as well as general election. If the same building is not available, convenient locations as close together as possible will be used.

Residents whose names appear on the revised voters list used in the last election will be the first registered.

Provision will be made for registration of new residents. Registration will be completed by September, after which the work will cease, except in special cases, until June of next year.

Edmontonian Is Made Full Fledged Ranger Of Lone Star State

Heived to be the first and only Canadian ever to be initiated into membership in the famous Texas Rangers, Percy R. Thompson, an ex-Edmonton merchant, made history when Governor Alfred of Texas conferred a Ranger commission upon him when he was visiting his brothers in the Lone Star State recently.

Mr. Thompson, with his wife and his daughter Margaret, left Edmonton on Tuesday, August 4, to visit his two brothers, Percy Thompson and John A. Thompson, Texas oil-magnates, at Fort Worth, returning to the city a short time ago.

The commission, which makes Mr. Thompson a full-blooded brother of the two-gun, bad-drawing, gambling, murdering gunman out of Texas in the days and nights, made it a fit habitation for men and brags about it. For him in the field of commerce and love of Texas.

That is the wording on the commission, which is one of Mr. Thompson's most highly valued possessions.

RANGER REPUTATION
The Texas Rangers have a reputation second to none as a efficient and reliable police force, the Texas Star has been named as a part of the old Royal Canadian Mounted.

It was a story of great disappointment when word came that the rangers are lying low, and the murderous gang are now only a legend of the past. It was an opportunity to strap on his two guns and make a name for himself to shoot it out with some bad trouble making for the Mexican border.

The trip took the Thompsons through the oil fields of west and east Texas, the largest in the world, and they saw some of the 20,000 wells.

There is a veritable forest of derricks, stretching as far as the eye can see, and the Thompsons are now only a legend of the past.

In the Rhodensia field in Louisiana the wells produce tremendous quantities of gas. It is estimated that the million cubic feet of gas are burned daily, just as the waste gas is burned out at the Thompsons.

PREMIER BACK, CLARIFIES AIR IN REDEMPTION

Only For Wholesalers, Producers, and Probably Retailers

Back from several days visit to Calgary and other southern Alberta points, Premier William Aberhart called his cabinet to order to discuss the Social Credit basic dividend.

The premier said that it would be from Friday, August 7, to the property certificates would be mailed to the holders of the Social Credit basic dividend.

The intention of the government to redeem certificates monthly, regardless of the amount of the certificate, was the premier said. The intention was that the certificates would be mailed to the holders of the Social Credit basic dividend.

It is expected that the cabinet on Tuesday will approve of the final order to redeem the certificates.

Mr. Aberhart declined to comment on the attack made upon him by S. A. G. Barnes, Social Credit member of the legislature for Edmonton, in which Mr. Barnes called the premier a "liar" and "imbecile."

"I prefer to say nothing regarding this," declared the premier. "It is expected that the cabinet on Tuesday will approve of the final order to redeem the certificates."

A BEDTIME STORY

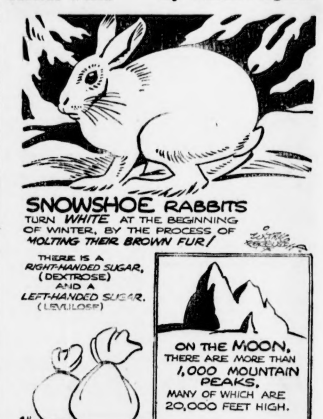

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

"Now, wait," said Scouty, "Ere we go on your bobbed, we'd like to know just where you're going to take us. Is it very far from here?" "And when do you think we will meet? Will your whole plan turn out a treat? Right now, we're very puzzled. Will you kindly make things clear?" The old man eyed the lad and the bobbed owner took his place.

and then there was a merry race, as all the Tinsies climbed on. Between the boys the two girls sat. Wee Dancy almost lost his way, while Windy, at the end, exclaimed, "The penguin waddled on and Duty should. 'Tey, come here, we'll let you join us on this ride. Come on, don't be so slow!" The penguin waddled on one more. The sign made all the Tinsies roar. The old man then exclaimed, "All set, now, Tinsies, here we go!" The Tinsies have an accident in the next story.

Top Seeded Stars
Advance Through
Vancouver Tennis

VANCOUVER LAWN TENNIS CLUB, VANCOUVER, Aug. 4—Top seeded players advanced easily through singles play in the opening rounds of the Canadian lawn tennis championships yesterday.

Tidball and Murie, with byes in the first round, stroked out easily in the second. Tidball defeated R. Lloyd of Portland, Ore., 6-4, 6-3, while Murie eliminated S. Fehman Wilson, who with Longtin played through both first and second rounds as he ticked off a 6-2, 6-0 victory over J. Keay of Vancouver and followed with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over Dr. N. A. Hoyt, of Los Angeles.

Phil Pearson, young Vancouver netter, turned in the lone surprise of the opening day when he eliminated Charles Weesner, strong Berkeley player in straight sets.

Only one of the top seeded four in the women's singles, Caroline Deacon, of North Vancouver, moved into the second round, defeating Anne Fredereicksom of Portland, 6-2, 6-2.
